2022-01-29, 2:32 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: Thanks Kelly

2022-01-29, 5:40 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Update: All groups have arrived. Speakers are moved to 11:00 tomorrow on Parliament Hill instead of today due to the significant delays in Convoys arriving. Some extremist trying to create a mob mentality in the crowd and threatening to ram the Parliament gates. Increased agitation observed in the crowd but remains verbal at this time with officers. Paramedics required police for security due to the crowd being agitated with them as well (not specifying who they are targeting in uniform). Highest crowd estimate right on the hill was 8,000.

2022-01-29, 5:54 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: Thanks Kellyâ€¦ you have been working long hoursâ€¦ was Todd not suppose to take over at 2pm?

2022-01-29, 5:56 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Aww thank you Sir but Todd is on his way to be here at 7 so that if he has to stay until the next operational period (7am), he is not working more than 12 either. I am doing well here. My paramedic shift work years have me well conditioned :)

2022-01-29, 5:57 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: Okayâ€¦ thanksâ€¦. You are doing great!

2022-01-29, 5:58 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Thank you :)

2022-01-29, 8:23 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Todd Pyper is official at the helm now at NCRCC. No major issues to report at this time. He will only update if there is something urgent. Have a good night

2022-01-29, 8:26 p.m. - Steve Kanellakos: You too Kelly. Thank you for today. Steve K

2022-01-29, 8:36 p.m. - Todd: I'm well-caffeinated, so we should be good!

2022-01-29, 8:38 p.m. - Steve Box: Thanks again Todd.

2022-01-30, 8:28 a.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Morning from the NCRCC. Todd manned the ship here last night. One concern was regarding the use of fleet vehicles without police at all sites where are staff are present. This has been rectified. We have a sitrep soon and I will update :).

2022-01-30, 8:29 a.m. - Kim Ayotte: Thanks Kelly

2022-01-30, 8:49 a.m. - +1 (613) 277-6771: Thank you Kelly and Todd.

2022-01-30, 10:24 a.m. - Kelly Cochrane: NCRCC update: OPP were not following any planned convoys today, however seeing an increase in Convoy presence entering the downtown core. Continue to expect significant traffic impacts both downtown and periodically on the highway. Seeing an increased posture of demonstrators trying to push through barriers. NCRCC is planning to mobile until Wednesday evening at this time

2022-01-30, 12:28 p.m. - Steve Kanellakos: Any updates Kelly?

2022-01-30, 12:35 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: No changes right now in posture. 1000 on the hill and approx 2-3000 in the streets. They are continuing to attempt to push through barriers and challenge road blocks. Convoys in small groups regularly attempting to enter the downtown core

2022-01-30, 12:35 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Speeches are taking place

2022-01-30, 12:36 p.m. - Steve Kanellakos: Thank you Kelly.

2022-01-30, 1:55 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: NCRCC Update: Minimal change. Parliament hill crowd slowly growing with speeches going on. Continuing to coordinate essential services access such as the water treatment plans and employees across bridges.. Crowd remains with isolated agitated pockets, no major incidents.

2022-01-30, 3:46 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: NCRCC: no major update. 1000 + on parliament hill. Isolated incidents of aggression still. Parliament plans to still sit tomorrow. Anticipating similar environment as last night occurring tonight. Ottawa Police receiving extra resources from OPP to assist. Speeches planned at Confederation Park tomorrow. Ottawa Police report that the courts will still be open tomorrow. NCRCC continuing to plan for operations until Wednesday evening at this time.

2022-01-30, 5:23 p.m. - Steve Kanellakos: Howâ€™s it going Kelly?

2022-01-30, 5:24 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: NCRCC update: 100 left on parliament hill. Public order units have increased presence later into the night tonight. Overall the crowd is behaving with the exception of select groups/individuals. Continuing to city work to ensure workers can access routes to get to work.

2022-01-30, 5:26 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: It's going well. The room is much less tense than this morning.

2022-01-30, 5:26 p.m. - Steve Kanellakos: Why the increase in public order units? What are risks tonight?

2022-01-30, 5:26 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: Perfectâ€¦ I see they have set up an arm wrestling table. That should tire a few of the out!

2022-01-30, 5:26 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: All the crazyâ€™s come out at night!

2022-01-30, 5:27 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: This message was deleted

2022-01-30, 5:28 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Individual from the main demonstration are advising other individuals to "behave" so that is a good sign. The POU units started early yesterday leaving little contingency for the evening and there was a fair amount of drinking in the streets leading to fighting. They have started later to increase the evening presence to mitigate this. In addition, there are reports of tension between different convoy groups that they are monitoring

2022-01-30, 5:28 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: not necessarily directed at the City or Government but more between each other. The BC group is also quite upset that they are the largest and travelled the farthest and had no room to park downtown. They are the primary group trying to get past barricades

2022-01-30, 5:28 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Last night a fleet driver was even bribed by a group to move their truck

2022-01-30, 5:29 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: Thanks

2022-01-30, 5:29 p.m. - Steve Kanellakos: Ok. Thx for this. My understanding is that police are meeting at 6pm to discuss next steps heading into tomorrow to try and get more to leave town

2022-01-30, 5:31 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: yes correct, they are really trying to accommodate any vehicles leaving. They are getting many demands for food and washrooms from demonstrators and obviously not accommodating. They want them to leave, not get comfortable here

2022-01-30, 5:34 p.m. - Steve Kanellakos: Very good. Thx

2022-01-30, 7:46 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: update: overall peaceful downtown right now with isolated incidents that are more verbal aggression related in nature. Parliament hill is almost empty of demonstrators. Still presence in the streets but dwindling. RCMP anticipate 175 ministers/MPs to attend Parliament tomorrow and working on a plan for access/egress. Major issue right now revolves around bridge closures. Significant delays at the bridges to get across. Unable to prioritize staff through Chaudiere Bridge anymore due to a blockage on the Ottawa side by the BC demonstrators. Todd is here for my relief. He will lead the ship

2022-01-30, 7:49 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: Thanks Kelly! have a good night

2022-01-30, 7:50 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: Hi Todd!

2022-01-30, 7:51 p.m. - Todd: Good Evening!

2022-01-30, 7:52 p.m. - Todd: Steve - you'll be happy to know I didn't fall asleep last night, so I have high hopes for this evening ðŸ™‚

2022-01-30, 7:59 p.m. - Steve Kanellakos: Thank you again Kelly. Great job today. Todd! I don't believe u. Lol

2022-01-30, 8:02 p.m. - Todd: I'll create a live stream so you can keep an eye on me here if you get bored at 3am.

2022-01-30, 8:03 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: LOL

2022-01-30, 8:06 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Haha

2022-01-31, 6:40 a.m. - Steve Kanellakos: How was your overnight stay at the Westin?

2022-01-31, 6:41 a.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Todd left around 2am when things died down and the streets were pretty much cleared out. I am on my way in :).

2022-01-31, 6:42 a.m. - Steve Kanellakos: I should have agreed to the live camera feed to keep an eye in him. Good morning Kelly

2022-01-31, 6:43 a.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Haha. Good morning

2022-01-31, 6:43 a.m. - Todd: lol

2022-01-31, 6:43 a.m. - Todd: Good Morning Boss!

2022-01-31, 6:57 a.m. - Steve Kanellakos: Good morning Todd!

2022-01-31, 6:59 a.m. - Kim Ayotte: LOL god morning everyone

2022-01-31, 7:04 a.m. - Todd: NCRCC Update (7PM - 2AM): Moderate protestor volumes were observed during the early evening hours. City staff were engaged to support two incidents between 9:00pm and 10:00pm (request from OPS to remove wooden pallets at Wellington & Metcalfe; request for Special Constables to attend the Williams/Rideau Transit Station for minor property damage following a physical altercation). There were initial reports of 20-30 suspected Antifa members mobilizing near Wellington & Metcalfe at approximately 9:45pm, with reports that a coordinated event may take place at approximately 10:00pm. OPS and PPS staff monitored all activity closely, and no events/risks materialized.

Â

There were also reports of homeless individuals beginning to set up an encampment at the Williams/Rideau Transit Station. The EOC Human Needs Section was notified accordingly.

Â

Protestor volumes reduced considerably by 11:30pm, and by 1:00am - there was no one on Parliament Hill, and minimal pedestrian traffic on Wellington and throughout the downtown core.

2022-01-31, 8:15 a.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Morning. Still waiting on our sit rep here at NCRCC. Most notable event last night was a demonstrator posing as a police official approaching a fleet vehicle requesting diesel fuel for their "RCMP vehicle". Fleet flagged the request right away and it was denied.

2022-01-31, 8:16 a.m. - Kelly Cochrane: they are getting creative in trying to re-fuel their trucks

2022-01-31, 10:14 a.m. - Kelly Cochrane: PM expected to make an announcement today at 11:15. No significant changes in operations at this point. Saw some demonstrators/vehicles leave the City last night. Police are continuing to hold the perimeter and now allow any vehicles into those vacant spots. This is a point of contention with the BC Group.

2022-01-31, 10:27 a.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Update: A 1 ton truck has hit a police cruiser at Rideau and Sussex and a group walking downtown on O'Connor with wooden pallets. Concerned they will be set on fire. Environment appears more hostile in the last 30 minutes

2022-01-31, 10:29 a.m. - Steve Kanellakos: Keep us posted

2022-01-31, 10:31 a.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Will do. They do have gas cans. Fire also notified

2022-01-31, 11:57 a.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Update: Parliament hill numbers remain low (approx 20-25). Multiple MPs at Parliament and another group expecting to walk there from across the street shortly (with escort). On-going investigation into the truck that hit the cruiser but the driver has been detained. Rideau and Sussex remains a flashpoint with agitators there. Reports of Convoys gathering from the states with intentions to head this way (none confirmed en route). Police reporting significant alcohol consumption in the crowd that is present.

2022-01-31, 12:26 p.m. - Beth Gooding added +1 (613) 316-9157

2022-01-31, 12:27 p.m. - Beth Gooding: Just added Caroline Barriere to the group as she is covering EIO.

2022-01-31, 12:29 p.m. - Steve Kanellakos: Ok.

2022-01-31, 12:57 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Update: PMs speech appears to have increased agitation with demonstrators. One convoy organizer has blocked an intersection and a blocked in a police cruiser on Rideau and has voiced intents to ram vehicles if they don't get access in front of the hill. Furniture (couches) are now set up on Rideau.

2022-01-31, 3:17 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Update: Hotels in Gatineau receiving repeated booking requests/stay extension for next weekend. One of the convoy leaders has messaged out to followers that he has 1000L of fuel coming to re-fuel trucks. News reporters have pulled out of downtown due to being harassed. House is anticipated to be in session until midnight tonight 2022-01-31, 3:20 p.m. - Steve Kanellakos: They are like the house guests who don't know when to leave.

2022-01-31, 3:22 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Exactly. Someone turn off the lights and music and tell them the party over. Last call ended.

2022-01-31, 3:26 p.m. - Steve Kanellakos: Iâ€™m going to pass your suggestion on to Sloly :) Best idea Iâ€™ve heard today

2022-01-31, 3:27 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Haha

2022-01-31, 3:28 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Well you know what happens after thatâ€¦ the bouncer comes and makes you go!!

2022-01-31, 3:30 p.m. - Steve Kanellakos: I have a feeling the bouncer is warming up for last call

2022-01-31, 3:33 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: I agree

2022-01-31, 3:49 p.m. - Andrea Lanthier-Seymour: IMG-20220131-WA0000.jpg (file attached)

Image of a helicopter carrying a semi is on social FYI.

2022-01-31, 3:59 p.m. - Andrea Lanthier-Seymour: But they are wondering if it's a sign that looks like a semi 2022-01-31, 4:00 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Belief here is a photoshop. It is low for a sign to hang if that was the case. There have been incidences of helicopters/planes in not approved airspace.

2022-01-31, 4:07 p.m. - Todd: Is that the "Bouncer" you ordered, Steve?

2022-01-31, 4:08 p.m. - Andrea Lanthier-Seymour: It's a video. It is definitely a helicopter carrying "something" .

2022-01-31, 4:08 p.m. - Andrea Lanthier-Seymour: Who knew Steve had such sway.

2022-01-31, 4:08 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Do we know where it is flying over?

2022-01-31, 4:09 p.m. - Andrea Lanthier-Seymour: Prince of Wales - I believe it's Hunt club intersection

2022-01-31, 4:09 p.m. - Andrea Lanthier-Seymour: I can't share the video because it's private

2022-01-31, 4:09 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Thanks

2022-01-31, 4:27 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Andrea, do we know if this video was taken today? We have no reports here and it is near the airport

2022-01-31, 4:51 p.m. - Steve Kanellakos: Any updates? Howâ€™s it looking downtown? Numbers? Issues?

2022-01-31, 4:55 p.m. - Andrea Lanthier-Seymour: It looks like it is. I can reach out to the person to see. He isn't a close friend.

2022-01-31, 4:56 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: we are still waiting on our sit rep. We are seeing a john deer tractor convoy that has parked on Rideau and sussex as well as another 100 vehicle convoy that has made its way downtown (neither anticipated). The main issues right now are trying to figure out how to free up the fleet vehicles as they are needed long-term in the city, particularly if this storm arrives on Wednesday.

2022-01-31, 4:56 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: looks like everyone is entering now for a sit rep so i'll have a better idea shortly on numbers and intel

2022-01-31, 4:56 p.m. - Steve Kanellakos: Ok. Thx. Look forward to it

2022-01-31, 5:00 p.m. - Andrea Lanthier-Seymour: @16136686660 it was at around 2 pm.

2022-01-31, 5:16 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Thanks you Andrea. There were no reports here about it and they are gone. Apologies for not having an answer 2022-01-31, 5:21 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Update: approximately 9 tractors arrived downtown from Cornwall. They belong to a snow removal company in that area. They continue to block that intersection. Significant decrease in parked vehicles/trucks on the streets. Unsure if they left the city all together. Trying to determine if the 100 vehicle convoy is part of the vehicles that have moved from parked positions and now roaming around. No notable incidents by any of the police services here.

2022-01-31, 7:19 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: I haven't forgotten about you all :). There is not much to update here at NCRCC. Climate has been stable right now. Continuing to work on a plan to free up our fleet vehicles

2022-01-31, 7:29 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: Thanks Kelly

2022-01-31, 7:49 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Update: Police liaison teams reporting that they have been gaining ground in terms of getting the demonstrators. They have agreed to start limit the times and durations of their honking and the police times are trying to continue this to a certain time period and location of the city. Their next move is to get control of the rogue elements/individuals in the demonstration to gain more cooperation. Police also voiced that they are actively working on traffic solutions to free up our fleet resources. No intel for speeches tomorrow or any planned events. No indication of further negative intent tonight. MPs will be sitting again tomorrow at Parliament. I flag to the intelligence team to advise if they hear of any intentions towards vaccine clinics - none at this time. Many vehicles have been refuelled - arranged by the convoy. Coventry stadium still has trucks blocking the entrance but they are moving to allow the constructor workers in and out. No notification from the hotel there of any concerns with guests getting in. Of note, many of the out of town police teams are staying there.

2022-01-31, 8:02 p.m. - Steve Kanellakos: Very good update. Thank you 2022-01-31, 8:45 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: :) thank you for providing me this opportunity. Iâ€™m heading home but have given them my number if there are any issues at all.

2022-01-31, 8:46 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: Have a great night and thanksâ€¦ you have done a great job!

2022-01-31, 8:47 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Means a lot. Thank you

2022-02-01, 8:42 a.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Morning from NCRCC: No notable events overnight. Working to shrink the perimeter and the plan to remove fleet vehicles today. Update here is at 9am. I'll keep you all posted 2022-02-01, 9:16 a.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Update from morning briefing: All agencies report no significant events overnight and currently. Ottawa Police report that crowds significantly diminished after 9pm last night. Today is a traffic management issue for them at this time. The convoys from the US are now indicating their plans to not come to Canada and demonstrate in Washington instead. Parliament sits at 10am today. No issues as of yet bringing any MPs/Ministers to the hill.

2022-02-01, 9:17 a.m. - Kim Ayotte: Thanks

2022-02-01, 11:45 a.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Very little update from our 11:30 sit rep: no planned events communicated today by organizers or on social media. Plan is to have Chaudiere bridge opened around noon but I will confirm once the vehicles blocking it have moved. Just a handful of people on parliament hill with no issues. One person of interest was uttering threats about Mayor Watson and arrest authority has been given to police. Reports of a farmers vehicle convoy coming into town on Saturday.

2022-02-01, 1:32 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: This message was deleted

2022-02-01, 1:34 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: ?

2022-02-01, 1:36 p.m. - Ryan Perrault: By â€œwhat ifâ€ I assume you mean if the farmers convoy comes on Saturday?

2022-02-01, 1:37 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: yes

2022-02-01, 1:38 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: sorry I meant to send that what if to beth. We were having conversation about the weekend. My sincere apologies

2022-02-01, 1:38 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: No worriesâ€¦

2022-02-01, 1:40 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Update from here: nothing major to report. One person of interest has been spotted coming to ottawa and pulled over by police. Crowds very minimal at this time. Chaudiere bridge opened both directions now for regular public traffic. Continuing to work on the traffic plan going forward

2022-02-01, 2:56 p.m. - Andrea Lanthier-Seymour: @16133152943 could Caroline Barriere be added to this chat too?

2022-02-01, 4:02 p.m. - Andrea Lanthier-Seymour: Perfect! Thank you 2022-02-01, 7:22 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: NCRCC update: Nothing major to report. The day has been overall uneventful. Police seeing a decrease in agitation from demonstrators today but there still appears to be fighting amongst the convoy groups. Possible demonstration from a non affiliated indigenous group tomorrow in confederation park. Police liaison teams working with this organizer who is well known to them. Downtown perimeter remains the same. All plans created to remove fleet vehicles overnight and replace with jersey barriers while still allowing access to emergency vehicles. Route identified for larger vehicles for snow removal and garbage collection. No issues with MP/Ministers accessing the hill today and parliament should be out momentarily. Public order teams are starting to withdrawal for the night and Hamilton and Peel public order teams have come in to replace the Toronto and London team that went back home. I will remain available to the inspector here throughout the night via phone.

2022-02-01, 7:25 p.m. - Steve Kanellakos: Great update. Thank you Kelly. Have a good uninterrupted night!

2022-02-01, 7:25 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Thanks, have a good night all

2022-02-02, 10:11 a.m. - Kelly Cochrane: NCRCC update: The perimeter hardening with Jersey barriers while removing our fleet vehicles went well overnight. Good collaboration with Ottawa Police and Public Works. Footprint downtown remains the same however seeing that some more vehicles left overnight. Parliament sitting until 7pm tonight. Possible demonstration with an indigenous group at Confederation park. We just denied access to a private company delivering washrooms to that location. Also reports of Bronson park being cleared out for washrooms by demonstrators - police have been advised that the City has no washroom deliveries and to deny all entry attempts. Intelligence suggests counter demonstration being set up for Saturday. Approximately 1000 people with a slogan "we the people of Ottawa will march against this terrorist group". No planned events today. Police liaison teams noting that the convoys continue to have in fighting and a lack of coordination with the main organizer creating challenges with cooperation of remaining demonstrators.

2022-02-02, 11:27 a.m. - Kelly Cochrane: NCRCC update: small counter protest (10-12 people) at Metcalf and Wellington. Increased online chatter about other convoys planning to attend Ottawa over the weekend as well as the counter protest of 1000+ individuals for Saturday. Little to no one actually on Parliament Hill right now. No other major incidents or intel to report

2022-02-02, 1:23 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: NCRCC Update: Nothing major to report. Seeing increased social media posts about convoys coming to Ottawa this weekend including one of a group of teachers. Erin O'Toole has been voted to be removed from the Conservative party, however the vote was virtual and he is not on the hill. NCC delivering jersey barriers to confederation park. Crowd is peaceful overall 2022-02-02, 1:27 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: Tha is Kellyâ€¦ appreciate itâ€¦ busy day for all of us!

2022-02-02, 1:33 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: good luck at the meeting :) you will all do great

2022-02-02, 3:10 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: NCRCC update: no major events to report. intel says there is social media surrounding demonstrators attending 474 elgin from 4-6pm today. Ottawa Police drone did an updated truck count in the downtown area of 481. Nothing else major to report

2022-02-02, 3:25 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: and correction from PPS: O'Toole is in west block. They were just made aware that the vote was virtual but he is presently in west block

2022-02-02, 6:25 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Update from NCRCC: overall the day has been status quo. Working with ottawa police regarding 2 main action items. one being a strategy towards noise. They indicate that there is still a lot of fracture between the convoy groups but police are moving to more of an enforcement approach now. It may require some by-law coordination regarding the noise but we are continuing to work together on this. Secondly is confirming plans regarding any "outer perimeter" for this weekend and anticipating resource requests from police. This is ongoing at this time. No incidents on the hill to report or on the streets. The un sanctioned indigenous demonstration has a bigger presence than yesterday at Confederation park with teepees starting to be erected. No planned events for tomorrow. There continues to be an increase in reports of demonstrators/individual convoys coming into the City for the weekend. OPP and intel are still monitoring but being as these are more rogue elements and not planned by the original organizers, there remains few details on these. The counter protest is still very relevant on social media and anticipated by police to be 1000+ for Saturday. Our last fleet resource is in the works to be extricated tonight from the perimeter and replaced with jersey barriers.

2022-02-02, 6:26 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Finally, Beth is kicking me out for the day tomorrow....I'm afraid she can actually take me in a fight so I will comply. I will be available and monitoring the situation but Todd will steer the ship tomorrow

2022-02-02, 6:26 p.m. - Todd: I hardly know Beth, but I suspect you are right!

2022-02-02, 6:31 p.m. - Steve Kanellakos: Outstanding. Thank you and glad that Beth is tough. Taking care you guys. Get rested up. Steve K

2022-02-03, 6:55 a.m. - Beth Gooding removed +1 (613) 277-6771

2022-02-03, 10:18 a.m. - Steve Kanellakos: Are there any updates this morning?

2022-02-03, 10:21 a.m. - Todd: NCRCC Update: Good Morning All. My apologies for the delayed update â€" itâ€™s been a busy morning of meetings/calls.

NCRCC Threat Level remains at medium. There were isolated traffic management issues last night, including trucks moving closer to the perimeter at Rideau and Sussex, and vehicles refusing to move for OPS at Kent & Queen and Kent & Albert (indicating they would only move for paramedics or fire). Traffic at checkpoints continues to be a pain point that OPS is actively managing.

Preparations are actively underway in anticipation of a larger presence downtown over the weekend. Updates from policing agencies indicate there are additional convoys expected from Quebec City, two from Eastern Ontario, and one from Kingston; however, no details on size or timing have been confirmed. Intel also indicates that applications have been received for counter-protestors on February 5 from noon to 7pm (expecting 1,000 protestors); two additional smaller protests of 100 people each are expected at 474 Elgin (OPS HQ) over the weekend. No intel is available re: any events planned at Confederation Park; I will continue to monitor and will keep everyone posted.

There are minimal individuals on the Hill at this time. The House is expected to sit from 10am to no later than 7pm. PPS is continuing to review its posture. PPS has also advised that the cenotaph is expected to be gated/fenced off over the weekend, based on last weekendâ€™s incidents. This is being coordinated by the Feds.

Our next NCRCC SitRep is at 11:30am, so I hope to share more information shortly after that.

2022-02-03, 10:23 a.m. - Steve Kanellakos: Thank you Todd

2022-02-03, 11:46 a.m. - Todd: NCRCC Update: The 11:30am SitRep was extremely short. Intel advised that there continue to be threats on social media against PM Trudeau, including threats to drive up to Harrington Lake. There was also confusion about a potential protest at 474 Elgin (OPS HQ) today, however â€" Intel advised that they are only aware of protests on February 5. Beyond that, we were advised that the NCRCC will remain activated 24/7 until at least February 14.

On the City front, discussions continue with OPS about the traffic management plan, and I hope to have more to share later. We are actively working on a number of requests at the moment, including: BLRS staff being threatened at 195 Kent St. by individuals with blacked-out license plates (OPS attending), a sewer issue near Wellington and Elgin requiring staff to attend the site, and a request from the NCC for support installing snow-packed planters at several locations on the west-side of the core (e.g., Wellington Street and Commissioner St.)

2022-02-03, 12:21 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: Just received a report from Ryan that 20 big trucks are heading downtown on Carling

2022-02-03, 12:21 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: Beth please share with Police

2022-02-03, 12:35 p.m. - Beth Gooding: Done. Thanks.

2022-02-03, 2:26 p.m. - Todd: NCCRC Update: A speech is being delivered on Parliament Hill by Romana Didulo (the self-proclaimed "Queen of Canada"). She is planning to burn a Canada flag, and there are individuals in the crowd indicating that they won't allow that to happen. The situation is at risk of escalating, but PPS is nearby and monitoring closely. The number of individuals nearby remains low.

OPS Intel has indicated that diesel fuel and other supplies are being stockpiled at Confederation Park; OPS and OFS are actively looking at regulatory violations to address this. OPS is also indicating that there are a large number of smaller convoys (10 - 20 vehicles per convoy) that are increasing traffic congestion and pushing the perimeter further south.

There was a miscommunication earlier about protection measures that would be in place at the Cenotaph over the weekend. We were originally under the impression that the Feds were going to be installing gates/fencing, however - they were merely indicating that they have this capability, if requested. Beth and I are currently confirming the process for formally submitting that request, and we hope to have a clear path forward shortly.

The next NCRCC SitRep is scheduled for 5:00pm.

2022-02-03, 4:18 p.m. - Todd: NCRCC Update: Regarding the diesel fuel and propane stockpile at Confederation Park, it is now being widely reported that a wooden structure is being built on Lawrence Freiman Lane (QED) between the Laurier Avenue Bridge and the NAC. I have been in discussions with the NCC to ask that they send a Conservative Officer (accompanied by an OPS PLT member) to formally request that they dismantle the structure and leave. Based on the response from the group, next steps will be determined by the OPS team here at the NCRCC.

The next SitRep is in 40 minutes, so I will share any additional details following that briefing.

2022-02-03, 4:18 p.m. - Todd: IMG-20220203-WA0000.jpg (file attached)

2022-02-03, 4:19 p.m. - Todd: IMG-20220203-WA0001.jpg (file attached)

2022-02-03, 4:20 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: Thanks! I think we are all on this one!

2022-02-03, 4:27 p.m. - Todd: NCC has confirmed that the fuel has been removed voluntarily. Their plan is to request the structure be removed today, with a request to clear all vehicles and individuals starting tomorrow morning (to attempt to minimize/reduce the agitation).

2022-02-03, 8:23 p.m. - Todd: NCRCC Update: As most of you are already aware, the wooden structure and on-site fuel continue to be the most active issue for us right now. While it was originally reported that the fuel had been voluntarily removed from the site, it turns out that the fuel was either returned to the site afterwards, or was hidden when NCC staff visited the site. Since then, OPS staff have visited the site, and the protestors have confirmed that the diesel is being loaded into the back of pickup trucks for distribution, and the propane will be removed in a cube van (I believe). OPS are maintaining a presence to ensure this actually happens.

The approach for the wooden structure continues to be a question mark. While no official decision has been made by the Incident Commander (Inspector Isabelle Lemieux), the preliminary recommendation from her Officers is to not proceed with removing the structure at this time. It goes without saying that there are a number of political and public confidence risks with that recommendation that I have shared with OPS. Nonetheless, I suspect further conversations will be needed with City senior management, the Chief, and the Mayor in the early hours tomorrow to finalize the path forward.

2022-02-03, 8:26 p.m. - Todd: Again - at this time, the recommendation to not remove the structure is PRELIMINARY, based on what I am overhearing here in the NCRCC. It has not been confirmed as OPS' official position/recommendation.

2022-02-03, 8:26 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: When you say the diesel is being distributedâ€ are you referringâ€ distributed to the protesters?

2022-02-03, 8:28 p.m. - Todd: I believe that is their intent, although it would presumably need to be brought in via sled (or something similar).

2022-02-03, 8:29 p.m. - Todd: OPS is saying that the fuel was being brought over to Kent for distribution (?)

2022-02-03, 8:29 p.m. - Todd: *distribution

2022-02-03, 8:33 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Thanks Todd. I will continue these discussions first thing tomorrow with OPS. You did amazing work today.

2022-02-03, 8:34 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: Agreeâ€ great work!

2022-02-03, 8:34 p.m. - Todd: Thank you both. Just trying to keep the ship afloat while the Captain took the day "away" from the helm!

2022-02-03, 8:35 p.m. - Todd: I use the term "away" very loosely.....

2022-02-03, 8:40 p.m. - Beth Gooding: We just got confirmation that the Feds will erect fencing around the Cenotaph tomorrow. More awesome work led by Todd. Today was chaotic. Todd impressed us.

2022-02-03, 8:40 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Hahaha you did amazing.

2022-02-03, 8:41 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Yay. Great work. Big win

2022-02-04, 8:16 a.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Morning everyone! Just a heads up that NCC will be working with OPS to remove that Confederation Park structure at 10am.

2022-02-04, 8:16 a.m. - Kim Ayotte: Okay thanks

2022-02-04, 8:39 a.m. - Todd: Glad to hear the posture has changed/improved!

2022-02-04, 9:32 a.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Update: No changes at this time in the perimeter footprint. The NCC/OPS operation to remove the confederation park structure has been moved to 11:00 to have public order unit support. There are only a few ministers in town today and the house is sitting from 10:00-15:30 today. Intel indicates that City Councillors will be marching around centretown tomorrow starting at 11:00am to show support for Ottawa residents. There is also a bus planned to leave Toronto at 6:30 am tomorrow to come to Ottawa and return the same day. Prescott Russell has a convoy planned to leave at 10am tomorrow. Canadian forces veteran has been doing counter surveillance of 302 Coventry. Pictures on twitter. Suggestions to block truckers in to prevent them from re-fueling (veteran is against the demonstration). No planned events at this time by the demonstrators that have been communicated.

2022-02-04, 11:20 a.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Intel just made a correction: councillor march is TODAY

2022-02-04, 12:07 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: Still nothing happening in Confed Park except for an increase in activity by protesters

2022-02-04, 12:08 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Police liaison teams are talking with them. Bulldozer is parked down the street

2022-02-04, 12:08 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: Thanks

2022-02-04, 2:54 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Didn't want to message during the meeting but update here: The negotiations at confederation are ongoing. Police describe the demonstrators with the shack to be more like "freeman of the land" mentally but will recognize requests from first nations apparently. Algonquin nations sent a letter that they do not support this group.

2022-02-04, 5:14 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: NCRCC: ongoing negotiations continue at Confed park regarding that structure. Police are waiting for community elders to arrive to assist with negotiations. Social media posts indicate their plans to put this structure on wheels so it is no longer a 'fixed structure'. Reports of multiple different convoys entering downtown tomorrow. The Reclaim Ottawa demonstration has been cancelled according to social media, however intel suggests this was actually organized by the truckers themselves. 200 trucks observed at Embrum truck stop 2 hours ago, intentions to head to Ottawa. Important to note that this is the second NCRCC update in a row that identified healthcare workers as a target on social media. Intelligence has observed twitter posts advising Dr. and Nurses not to wear uniforms to identify them to work at the hospital or vaccination centres. MPs gone for the weekend from PH.

2022-02-04, 5:19 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: Bethâ€¦ this is the first I hear about healthcare workers being targets. We will definitely need to communicate that out if itâ€™s true! The challenge will be doing it without creating a panic in a sector that is already skidish!

2022-02-04, 5:23 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Kim the last briefing this was not confirmed information, this time they have seen it for the second intel briefing in a row. I had them monitoring for this since i started here

2022-02-04, 5:23 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: any threats to healthcare workers or vaccine centres. The newest intel expanded to say not to wear uniforms that identify them

2022-02-04, 5:25 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: Sorry Kellyâ€¦ not my intention to criticize your reporting, itâ€™s been excellent. This is just an area that I have committed to letting hospitals and OPH know about if it materializes.

2022-02-04, 5:26 p.m. - Beth Gooding: Kelly is correct as always. ðŸ˜Š The EOC is working with OPS and NCRCC to assess the credibility of the threats, which are somewhat generic. Current OPS assessment is that threat remains low but we have been facilitating discussions between TOH/OPH and OPS today on best practices for staff safety.

2022-02-04, 5:27 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: Great thanksâ€¦ police might also want to share those best practices with Vera.

2022-02-04, 5:27 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: no no I didn't mean that Kim :). I just meant I was waiting to validate from last briefing to not spread false information. My first day I had flagged to intel to monitor this and they have been excellent 2022-02-04, 5:28 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: Perfectâ€¦ thanks!

2022-02-04, 5:28 p.m. - Beth Gooding: Lastly, the "Queen of Canada" (sigh), who was the source of one specific threat, is now apparently in Quebec.

2022-02-04, 5:30 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: Quebec City or Gatineau LOL

2022-02-04, 5:31 p.m. - Steve Kanellakos: This from the Mayor:

CTV is reporting police and city have been rebuffed by towing companies. What can we do to confirm that and can we lease some ourselves and get city employees to drive them!

2022-02-04, 5:31 p.m. - Steve Kanellakos: Anybody know anything about this?

2022-02-04, 5:32 p.m. - Steve Kanellakos: PS. Not his solution part! The part about we canâ€™t get towing companies

2022-02-04, 5:37 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: I will ask Beth to inquire through EOC channels

2022-02-04, 5:38 p.m. - Beth Gooding: On it.

2022-02-04, 5:39 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: <https://ottawa.ctvnews.ca/tow-truck-companies-rejecting-ottawa-police-request-for-help-source-1.5768436>

2022-02-04, 5:39 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: This is the article

2022-02-04, 6:29 p.m. - Beth Gooding: Ok... Kelly and I are dividing and conquering. She's in a traffic management meeting. I don't have good news on the tow truck front. We've confirmed with both By-Law and police and yes... companies are refusing to tow transport trucks. Only passenger vehicles. This puts the companies in breach of contract with the City, as we have arrangements for 24/7 towing, including of heavy vehicles. This is happening in other parts of the country too. The CEO of Inter-Pacific wrote to the RCMP to formally refuse towing services related to any convoy/protest.

2022-02-04, 6:30 p.m. - Beth Gooding: My understanding is that Supply Services has been made aware of the breach of contract.

2022-02-04, 6:35 p.m. - Beth Gooding: Not to make things worse but.... apparently, every towing service in the Ottawa area was called (we've already reached out beyond our contracts) and they said the same thing. They will not tow convoy vehicles.

2022-02-04, 6:37 p.m. - Todd: There was originally talk of Police Officers with the appropriate license class (e.g., AZ, DZ, etc.) being called on to drive the vehicles off-site. Do you know why that might have been shut down? (e.g., insurance/liability risks).

2022-02-04, 6:42 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: GoFundMe just announced that they will be refunding everyone and not releasing any more money to the organizers because of violence.

2022-02-04, 6:47 p.m. - Beth Gooding: Good news re GoFundMe. For Todd's question.... police have been on this all day. There are multiple issues. Drivers are saying they will lock up the brakes (basically sabotage their vehicles). It's fixable but replacing an air tank would turn each drive into a 5-hour endeavour. Police are still working on their legal authority to seize the vehicles... they are not sure where they are driving the trucks to... and they are worried about officer safety.

2022-02-04, 6:50 p.m. - Todd: And I assume OC Transpo probably doesn't have enough heavy rigs to spare to support potential towing operations?

2022-02-04, 6:52 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: OC was approached before the demo came and need to reserve the limited resources they have for their busses

2022-02-04, 6:52 p.m. - Todd: That's what I suspected....sigh.

2022-02-04, 6:53 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: They only have 2 units that could tow these trucks and drivers are worried and donâ€™t want to participate.

2022-02-04, 6:56 p.m. - Beth Gooding: By-law have also been doing recces around the streets. They say in some cases, a tow truck can't get in. Many of the trucks are "kissing each other" (their words) and in tight formations.

2022-02-04, 6:56 p.m. - Steve Kanellakos: If we need the OC tow trucks we will take them. Thatâ€™s not the issue. Buses can wait if we enter into a tactical operation. The issue is whether we can get operators 2022-02-04, 8:44 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Update: Negotiations STILL ongoing at confed....le sigh. Seeing more kitchen facilities being set up in the congested areas. Monitoring multiple convoys anticipated to arrive tomorrow. Significant work planned tonight to secure the perimeter further and protect and potential crowds on Wellington. Emergency routes for responders identified and shared. No other significant events at this time.

2022-02-04, 9:43 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: NCRCC end of date update: Continued work on evacuation plans, traffic management and barrier placements. No major incidents to report on Parliament Hill today. No issues with MP/Minister transports. Currently there is a dance party on Wellington which was a planned event by the main organizer. Negotiators still on scene at Confederation Park. Refuel location at Coventry for truckers identified and covert officers will work to obtain more information in the morning from the site. I will remain on call if anything urgent comes up. Goodnight all

2022-02-05, 9:36 a.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Good morning: Busy here at NCRCC preparing for the day. 13 convoys being monitored. Smaller in size and fractured. Plan is to line them up either SJAM or George Etienne Parkway. Contingency staging locations identified. Parliament hill expecting 10,000 today. Plans to separate protest from counter protestors on the hill. The convoy leaders loosing trust amongst group leading to increased fracture in the demonstrators and lack of cooperation with police. Structure still remains at Confed park and no plans to remove it today. Elders negotiations did not go well yesterday and police had to safely escort them off the grounds. Quebec police services have been requested to keep convoys parked in their Province to reduce downtown impacts. OPP anticipating rolling road closures and I will update emergency and essential services at it occurs

2022-02-05, 9:37 a.m. - Kim Ayotte: Thanks Kelly

2022-02-05, 12:00 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: NCRCC update: Multiple convoys have arrived. They are not obeying police direction on parking and staging locations. Significant traffic impacts. Increase in gas canisters and propane observed downtown. Approx 1000 on the hill and many more along wellington.

2022-02-05, 1:53 p.m. - Steve Kanellakos: Any updates? Crowd size? Posture of crowd? Aggressive? Calm? Traffic impacts? Neighbourhood issues? Number of new trucks:m/vehicles in town? Look ahead?

2022-02-05, 1:57 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Sorry was just waiting on the 2pm sitrep for the next update. Currently 1500-2000 on the hill and about 1000 in front of Wellington. Convoys continue to be uncooperative with designated routes and staging locations. Horses seen both on the hill as well as a horse drawn carriage acting as a fuel shuttle to Confederation Park. Reviewing bylaws for this carriage and the horses appear visibly upset. Stationary fueling station also spotted at 85 Bronson. No major issues in terms of physical aggression but concerns for a few vehicles breaking through entry points and slowly driving through the crowds and on sidewalks.

2022-02-05, 1:59 p.m. - Steve Kanellakos: Ok. Thx. Look forward to the update after your next briefing. We are briefing the mayor at 3:30

2022-02-05, 2:09 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Update from 2pm sit rep: 1500-2000 on Parliament, same for in front and approximately 10,000 throughout downtown core. No significant altercations that police haven't been able to mitigate with demonstrators but residents starting to yell at demonstrators from their balconies. The new funding platform for the freedom convoy has raised over $1 million in 12 hours. Counter demonstrations at 474 Elgin (currently walking towards downtown) and outside City Hall. Main organizer "Hillier" posted on social media that "this is the hill we die on".

2022-02-05, 2:10 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: They have arrived at City Hall

2022-02-05, 2:11 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Yes correct two separate counter demonstrations, one at City Hall that is stationary and one that is walking from 474 Elgin to Parliament

2022-02-05, 2:11 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: IMG-20220205-WA0000.jpg (file attached)

2022-02-05, 2:12 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: Laurier is the line in the sand!

2022-02-05, 3:49 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: NCRCC update: no major new concerns at this point. Paramedic bus was relocated due to the increased crowd at their previous staging location. Speeches have been ongoing in spurts throughout the day. Still seeing lots of fuel in jerry cans making their way into the downtown. No reports of new convoys entering the city limits

2022-02-05, 5:28 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Update: approx 300-400 on the hill and streets starting to filter out of pedestrian traffic. No reports of further inbound convoys today. Fireworks being set off on Parliament Hill and PPS aware as there is a concern for the amount of fuel canisters around. Ottawa police estimate the City Hall demonstration/counter demonstration to be around 750 people at the peak. Drones being observed over Wellington and officers working to locate the operators. Significant amount of open alcohol also reported in the downtown core. Working with Ottawa Police towards an LRT contingency support and they are willing to support as required. Intel indicates downtown residents voicing their constitutional right to protest on Monday but no further details. No major issues to report.

2022-02-05, 7:42 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: NCRCC Update: Crows have diminished. Very few people left on Parliament Hill. Concentration at Wellington and Elgin (dance party going on) and another potential flashpoint spot with a concentration of demonstrators at Rideau and Sussex. Police report that there have been no major issues with the crowd today. Relating the current crowd to more of a Canada Day dynamic. Dancing and drinking in the streets. Families with children observed in the crowd. Some vehicles in Confederation Park requesting to leave and accommodating moving the barriers. One convoy expected tomorrow that was also here today. OPP still anticipating other convoy arrivals but less than today. Police still keeping the same posture and perimeter at this time.

2022-02-05, 7:43 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Crowds, not crows hehe

2022-02-05, 7:45 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: IMG-20220205-WA0001.jpg (file attached)

So happy it wasnâ€™t crows after I heard about the turkey convoy coming!

2022-02-05, 7:48 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: haha literally laughed out loud here. Needed that. Thanks boss :)

2022-02-05, 8:11 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: Can we get confirmation that Confederation Park has been cleared out of the kitchen and vehicles please.

2022-02-05, 8:12 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: The building structure that was being used as a kitchen has been pulled off the grounds and is under the laurier bridge now. There are still vehicles on the site but not a kitchen set up right now

2022-02-05, 8:13 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: Okay thanks

2022-02-06, 7:08 a.m. - Kim Ayotte: Sad to report that the structure is back in place this morning.

2022-02-06, 7:08 a.m. - Kim Ayotte: IMG-20220206-WA0000.jpg (file attached)

2022-02-06, 7:09 a.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Morning. Iâ€™ll get you an update on this shortly.

2022-02-06, 7:21 a.m. - Kelly Cochrane: I donâ€™t have a clear answer

For you on this right now other than the police teams are actively addressing it

2022-02-06, 7:45 a.m. - Kim Ayotte: From Policeâ€¦ The NCC Crew is putting up the fence around the park right now. The shack will be dealt with next

2022-02-06, 7:46 a.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Sorry was just on the phone with NCC about this. Yes they have a conservation officer with them and police presence from OPS and we helped deliver fencing for them

2022-02-06, 7:47 a.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Police are working to get the shack pulled back off and the fencing up.

2022-02-06, 8:46 a.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Update from NCRCC regarding confederation: Negotiations are not improving. Police have just given the direction to the ground teams to take the shed down now as a priority and clear the park. We will see how it goes. I'll keep you updated 2022-02-06, 9:31 a.m. - Kelly Cochrane: NCRCC Update: ongoing work at confederation park and metal fencing on site to close off the park as soon as possible. Ottawa Fire being sent to the park right now to do an assessment of the burn barrels and propane tanks. Nothing to report on the Quebec side. Most of the new vehicles in the downtown core from yesterday have left throughout the night. No schedule of events for today. No confirmed convoys although we anticipate many to arrive. One officer from Parliamentary Protective Services lost a 15 round magazine yesterday (9mm). Grid search was performed but it was not located. Overall footprint for road closures remains the same at this time.

2022-02-06, 10:03 a.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Confed park update: Fencing of the park is nearly done, however it appears they are not occupying the park but the roadway east of the park. We were told they were taking down the shed but the officer on scene just updated that what they believed was it being disassembled is no longer the case, they are currently "cooking" in it. ugh. Many propane tanks (various sizes) and gas canisters observed as well as generators, wood piles and hay.

2022-02-06, 10:07 a.m. - Kim Ayotte: IMG-20220206-WA0002.jpg (file attached)

2022-02-06, 10:09 a.m. - Kim Ayotte: My most recent recce from 5 minutes ago!

2022-02-06, 10:10 a.m. - Steve Kanellakos: Have you had your morning briefing yet? What is update on last night with respect to the situation downtown and in the neighborhoods? Did police arrest? How many? Tickets? Need a sense of what situation was overnight

2022-02-06, 10:17 a.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Most of my update was from the morning briefing, not much was covered this morning. The majority of the traffic that arrived yesterday has since cleared out overnight. One vehicle (not a truck) was towed. Overnight there were no major incidents to report and the crowd, while intoxicated, what cooperative. Police appear to be keeping the same posture today at this time as yesterday. No reported arrests yesterday.

2022-02-06, 10:19 a.m. - Steve Kanellakos: Any estimates of expected crowd sizes today? Increase in trucks? What kind of day is expected?

2022-02-06, 10:22 a.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Apologies Steve K. I wish I had better numbers but appears they are still trying to figure this out. They expect a large crowd again but OPP do not seem to have a finger on the pulse in terms of what convoys will be returning. Overall consensus is it will be less than the 10,000 yesterday but unclear what the range is. Overall it is expected to be another busy day. We are continuing to see convoys that arrive, not cooperating with police in terms of routes, parking locations and staging locations. The barriers remained in tact overnight last night which has been an improvement over previous nights.

2022-02-06, 11:04 a.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Unfortunately no new updates from the 11:00 sit rep other than no convoys spotted at this time en route to Ottawa. Ottawa Police will be focussed on enforcement. Parliament hill nearly empty at this time. No progress yet on the group at Confed

2022-02-06, 11:46 a.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Update: Bomb threat on Kent under the 417. Second hand information relayed to police by 9-1-1 caller. Police responding 2022-02-06, 12:48 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Update: Focus has been heavy on bylaw enforcement with Ottawa Police presence. Working to relocate vehicles from Tunny's pasture to our designated space by the federal government. Crowds still minimal on the hill. Bomb threat cleared as false alarm. Perimeter being maintained.

2022-02-06, 12:48 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: No reportable progress on Confederation park.

2022-02-06, 12:55 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: No inbound convoys reported 2022-02-06, 1:07 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: There is a group of protesters on the road at Confed Park. I went down and did another Recce and the organizer was giving a speech to those people advising that they are packing and going to Conroy. Everything is still in process of being removed but at a very slow pace.

2022-02-06, 1:12 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: This message was deleted

2022-02-06, 1:12 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Yup Iâ€™m at a loss for words on this one. Wish I could offer more optimism but weâ€™ve been told for days itâ€™s getting removed 2022-02-06, 1:19 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: Not your issueâ€¦ stay positive!

2022-02-06, 1:20 p.m. - Todd: Kim, just confirming - did you mean Coventry?

2022-02-06, 1:21 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: Yes I didâ€¦ sorry!

2022-02-06, 1:24 p.m. - Todd: Great. Thx!

Kelly - might be worth giving Amanda Farias a heads up (if she's not already aware). That's not going to help her discussions around RCGT...

2022-02-06, 1:26 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Absolutely

2022-02-06, 1:56 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Ottawa Police Tac have requested access to RCGT (Coventry) in plain clothes. Just updated by Amanda Farias

2022-02-06, 2:13 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Update from 2pm sit rep: Bylaw has been busy assisting Ottawa Police with enforcement. Confederation park is 80% cleared. There is a flatbed there to pick up the structure. Ottawa Police also advise that by tonight, anyone bringing fuel and supplies into the inner cordon will be charged. Person of Interest referred to as "The Queen" did show up on the hill today but was a brief visit and had no issues. She was the one who previously was burning the Canadian flag and has a considerable social media following. Police report to major issues with demonstrators today so far. No new incoming convoys reported. Prime Minister is expected to arrive back in Ottawa tonight

2022-02-06, 2:14 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: IMG-20220206-WA0004.jpg (file attached)

2022-02-06, 2:14 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: Lol just adding visuals to you report!

2022-02-06, 2:15 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: On the ground reporting. Love it

2022-02-06, 4:11 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: This picture was shared to me by fire of the supplies at Coventry earlier today. In the process of removing these 2022-02-06, 4:17 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: Great team work!

2022-02-06, 6:19 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Update: No reports of incoming convoys tomorrow. Parliament Hill nearly empty. Small pockets of crowds in the streets with the highest populations still at Elgin and Wellington and Rideau and Sussex. Police are currently making their first seizure of fuel entering in the red zone. Working with BLRS to transport these containers to the designated location off Barnsdale Rd. Alexandria bridge will be open from 6am to 10am southbound tomorrow morning. Coventry intervention of fuel still in progress.

2022-02-06, 6:45 p.m. - Steve Kanellakos: If u can get the info, keep us updated on what's happening at Coventry. Thank you

2022-02-06, 6:49 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: They have sent in tactical officers, originally in civilian clothes to gather more intel. Now they have two public order units there to assist as well as some patrol in removing the fuel from the property. They just requested the arrest van as well. There are some individuals not cooperating and will likely be trespassed

2022-02-06, 6:51 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: I am watching the drone footage and fuel is still on the site at this time

2022-02-06, 6:51 p.m. - Steve Kanellakos: Thank you Kelly

2022-02-06, 8:20 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Update: All the fuel has been removed from Coventry and is en route to Barnsdale. Lights have been brought to the Barnsdale location as well to prevent injuries to staff delivering fuel with police escorts. Multiple arrests and charges being laid at Coventry. Police will be working in quick response teams with BLRS embedded as of 8am tomorrow (3 teams to start). Crowds have significantly dissipated and the bouncy castles have even been fully packed up and removed from the street. PM back at Rideau Hall with the family.

2022-02-06, 8:22 p.m. - Steve Kanellakos: Is that big fuel tanker also removed now?

2022-02-06, 8:24 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: yes it is. Jim Andrews just reported that his guys towed it out

2022-02-06, 8:24 p.m. - Steve Kanellakos: Outstanding news

2022-02-07, 8:42 a.m. - Todd: NCRCC Update: Good Morning All. Beyond some negative social media posts last night, the overnight operations went well. All fuel was removed from Coventry, but it is unclear if any replenishment activities have taken place at the site since then. OPS will continue to monitor. There have already been several isolated incidents over the past 30-minutes of individuals attempting to bring fuel in the red zone (12 jerricans seized in the past 30-minutes). OPS staff in the NCRCC are not aware of any arrests from overnight operations (beyond the seven reported in OPS' MR). As Kelly indicated in her last update, three BLRS staff are meeting with OPS QRT this morning to resume enforcement activities for the day.

2022-02-07, 9:16 a.m. - Todd: We just had our 9am SitRep. No major updates beyond what I've highlighted above. The House is sitting from 11am to 7pm; six scheduled Committees; Senate is back and sitting tomorrow. City Hall remains a staging area for RCMP VIP detail. PM is back at Rideau Cottage. There are also now intel reports of truckers using BitCoin to fund their operations ($300K in one wallet; unknown funds spread out in other wallets). Next SitRep here is planned for 11am.

2022-02-07, 10:14 a.m. - Todd: NCRCC Update: Unfortunately, OPS is now advising that they're short bodies and they haven't been able to mobilize enough Officers for QRT to integrate with BLRS staff. I've been told by BLRS that they're releasing their Officers for patrol, as some of them have been at City Hall waiting for close to two hours. OPS is supposed to keep me updated on Officer availability to resume these coordinated efforts, but I will be sure to stay on them so this doesn't fall of their radar.

2022-02-07, 12:12 p.m. - Todd: IMPORTANT - NCRCC Update: A recent up discussion with OPS in the room here has painted a less-than-optimistic outlook for today and the near-term. OPS continues to assert that their resources are depleted, and that the 250 Officers announced the other day from partner agencies are still in the process of being mobilized and are not available. As such, there were talks of smaller scale enforcement, with Officers being instructed to let supplies through if a crowd begins to gather while it is happening (images of low quantities of supplies being delivered this morning have already started to circulate on social media). Since then, Iâ€™ve just learned that OPS will be stopping all confiscation of jerricans into the red zone, as â€" in addition to their resource challenges - protestors are now filling them with water, drinking from them, and challenging Officers on their authority to collect. As such, I am understandably concerned that we are going to lose the positive momentum we started to see last night/early this morning through network media and social media, and that political and public confidence is going to further deteriorate with OPSâ€™ new posture detailed above.

The 11am SitRep was very quick and didn't offer any notable updates. The only relevant piece of intel is that there has been a social media post starting to circulate calling for a counter-protest at City Hall between Feb. 9 â€" Feb. 28 calling for the resignation of Chair Deans, Councillor Meehan, Chief Sloly, and Mayor Watson. The details are very high-level and unconfirmed at this point, so it is more of a watch-item for the group. Our next SitRep here is 2pm.

2022-02-07, 12:17 p.m. - Todd: NOTE: The decision re: confiscation of jerricans is an operational directive that was just issued here in the NCRCC to Officers in the red zone, and it is not clear if this directive has made it through the ranks at OPS yet (in case conflicting reports start to emerge).

2022-02-07, 12:23 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: Urgent request: we need to know if Coventry is under city control or protester control. Do we also have an estimate on how many protesters there are left in the city and the last number of protesters trucks/vehicles still parked in the city 2022-02-07, 12:24 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: Do we know where the shack is? It was taken away on flatbedâ€" did it reappear anywhere?

2022-02-07, 12:26 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: Need an update within 15 minutesâ€" with as many of the answers you can get!

2022-02-07, 12:30 p.m. - Todd: RCGT is under Protestor Control; 75- 100 people on-site; a large bus just arrived; some jerricans have reappeared on-site - unknown quantity.

Between Elgin and Bay - latest estimate in the core is 94 dump trucks/bobtails; 7 full size tractor trailers; 10 campers; 5 farm tractors; 186 other personal vehicles.

OPS here believes the shed is at RCGT, but this doesn't appear to be confirmed.

2022-02-07, 12:32 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: Thanks

2022-02-07, 12:59 p.m. - Todd: IMG-20220207-WA0000.jpg (file attached)

Further to my update above re: fuel, this is already starting to be called out more actively on social media.

Found the structureâ€"

2022-02-07, 2:37 p.m. - Steve Kanellakos: Where is this?

2022-02-07, 2:37 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: Coventry Ball Park

2022-02-07, 2:39 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: IMG-20220207-WA0003.jpg (file attached)

2022-02-07, 2:41 p.m. - Steve Kanellakos: Jesus

2022-02-07, 8:57 p.m. - Todd: NCRCC Update: Sorry that I've kept you all waiting on your bedtime reading. Nothing significant to report from here in the NCRCC. OPS advises that everything will pretty much remain status quo this evening and into tomorrow (i.e., continued scaled back enforcement re: supplies). This afternoon, since the change in enforcement posture, I estimate they've collected between 5 - 10 jerricans, at most. OPS is supposed to be taking over the logistics of this entire process, but due to a resourcing/scheduling issue on their part, City crews are continuing to support the collection and shuttling of jerricans throughout the night. OPS had no new intel on RCGT Park, beyond that they hope to resume enforcement efforts there again once resources permit. No changes to perimeter or road blockages.

2022-02-07, 8:58 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: disheartening but hopefully we see improvement. Thanks for all your hard work today Todd

2022-02-07, 9:03 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: Thanksâ€¦

2022-02-07, 9:04 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: You have a difficult job, playing wait and see makes for long days!

2022-02-07, 9:04 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: We do appreciate it

2022-02-07, 9:14 p.m. - Todd: Thanks Kim. I dislike like the feeling of not making "progress" (which I'm sure is a shared feeling amongst this group), so today's apparent shift to "maintaining status quo" was certainly not the most enjoyable; however, I know it's a temporary setback, and we have better days ahead ðŸ™‚

2022-02-07, 9:24 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: I think part of the let down is not capitalizing on the momentum the police were getting publicly 2022-02-07, 9:26 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: Letâ€™s stay positiveâ€¦ have a good night everyone!

2022-02-07, 9:29 p.m. - Todd: Agreed! Good Night All.

2022-02-08, 9:11 a.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Morning: The update here is that there were no reported incidents overnight. OPS still conducting fuel seizures. No changes in the posture right now or operational activities. 7 ministers in town including the chief justice. Parliament will be sitting from 10:00-23:00 and the senate will be sitting at 14:00. Intel indicates there is a facebook page supporting the demonstration that is planning a march in Montreal on February 12th followed by a convoy here. Currently lists as 4 thousand going and an additional 4 thousand interested. Of note: Ottawa Police sent out a general order last night asking for all non-patrol sections to identify staff to work from now until March 7th. No update on inbound officers from other regions to start supporting here.

2022-02-08, 11:21 a.m. - Kim Ayotte: I just watched police and Fire clear out the park at Metcalfe and Slaterâ€¦ no riot or commotion. The protesters were not happy but they did not get violent 2022-02-08, 11:25 a.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Yes they were advised by PLT they were going to be cleared out if they didn't leave by 10 am. The property manager asked for them to be removed.

2022-02-08, 12:03 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Update: Not much new here from this morning. Fire is embedded with the public order team and will be given the direction to extinguish burn barrels. Bylaw embedding with QRT police teams as of 12:30. No new intel. Clearing out of the Metcalf encampment has no issues.

2022-02-08, 12:04 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: There are talks of a possible demonstration at City hall tomorrow. This is NOT a counter demonstration according to police. No word on timing or numbers 2022-02-08, 12:35 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: Definately coming into City Hall tomorrow then!

2022-02-08, 12:35 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: Iâ€™ll bring my hockey gear!

2022-02-08, 12:35 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: we need your surveillance skills :)

2022-02-08, 2:20 p.m. - Beth Gooding: Quick towing update: Metro seems to be no longer willing to provide a heavy truck. The plan Police are working on is therefore quite dependent on our two OC Transpo trucks. The good news is that Police believe they have found certified operators. So, they just need our trucks. I talked to OC Transpo and Legal; there are no concerns in having outside operators drive our vehicles as long as they have the proper license class. There is a risk that the vehicles that are towed could file a claim if they say that the trucks damaged their front axels or something. I think that can be managed. Also, OC Transpo wants their decals off the trucks before they are used. But, the colours are still sort of OC Transpo-obvious. Finally we need to confirm that the OC Transpo trucks can properly tow these vehicles as Jim Greer is telling me that their trucks were designed specifically to tow buses. We're working on that.

2022-02-08, 2:23 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: Thanks Beth! too bad about Metro! maybe we can throw some Ottawa Police Decals on the trucks!

2022-02-08, 2:24 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: Any luck with the company that leased their trucks to the City of Toronto?

2022-02-08, 2:24 p.m. - Beth Gooding: Police have asked us to hold on reaching out. They have a good lead closer (Brockville).

2022-02-08, 2:29 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Update. Further to the towing update that Beth provided, operations here are still status quo. We have seen 6-7 trucks leaving the inner perimeter and others have voiced intentions to leave. Maple 1 at PH but leaving around 15:00. CSIS director arriving at Parliament Hill shortly to meet with the Minister of Public Safety. No new inbound convoys and we do have parked traffic at 1500 Bronson.

2022-02-08, 4:24 p.m. - Beth Gooding: Latest towing update: By-Law is still working with our one willing provider to secure a minimum of two small and 1 large truck for towing (minus company decals on vehicles). Police are now working directly with OC Transpo to coordinate usage of the City's two tow trucks. Plan is to drive the OC Transpo trucks to Swansea shortly for Police access.

2022-02-08, 4:36 p.m. - Steve Kanellakos: Are they planning on using them in a tactical operation imminently?

2022-02-08, 4:38 p.m. - Beth Gooding: They want to do a recce tonight or tomorrow morning, to ensure that the trucks can access the areas they want to target first. Dan Lalonde from Transit Services will accompany them, to provide that expertise.

2022-02-08, 4:39 p.m. - Steve Kanellakos: Thank you

2022-02-08, 5:07 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Update from 5pm briefing: Work still underway to finalize operational plan for towing trucks. No issues reported with the QRT/BLRS task teams. Will operate for the rest of the week from 11:00-21:00. A bus filled with fuel cans left Coventry and has not been located by police as of yet. Social media posts referencing attacking uniformed officers. Parliament still sitting. PM back to his residence without incident.

2022-02-08, 6:51 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Focus today has been primarily around bylaw enforcement and enforcement of the gas canisters

- Portable washrooms appeared at Rideau/Sussex. Police advise that their liaison teams negotiated this
- Minimal to no demonstrators on the hill today. Parliament sat with no issues
- CSIS director as well as PM on Parliament Hill today without incidents
- Encampment at Metcalf road dismantled without issues
- Fuel still being seen leaving from Coventry Road encampment
- BLRS embedded with OPS QRT on 11-9pm shift
- Traffic/towing plan in the works
- Parliament sitting again tomorrow

2022-02-08, 6:51 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Sorry that was my end of day update but it cut out the first line :). I will remain on call for any issues.

2022-02-08, 6:53 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: Thanks

2022-02-08, 6:58 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: I didn't escape. Heads up that I was just alerted by police that OC transpo had an internal email leaked containing the operational plans to pick up Officers for deployment Thursday. It is apparently on twitter but trying to locate it

2022-02-08, 7:03 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: <https://www.instagram.com/p/CZvDwIPuPdK/>

2022-02-08, 7:04 p.m. - Steve Kanellakos: This is ridiculous

2022-02-08, 7:05 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: I will work with OC and OPS to change these plans :(

2022-02-09, 9:16 a.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Good morning: Update from NCRCC. No events to report overnight other than a major flood in East Block of Parliament Hill requiring assistance from fire. It has been repaired. The House is sitting today at 2 with 6 Ministers in town as well as Maple 1 on the hill. No change in Police posture at this time. Bylaw will be embedding again today with OPS QRT teams. Continued intel inciting violence against law enforcement. Some trucks have left the downtown core overnight but unclear if they left the City as there appears to be an increase on SJAM as well as an encampment at 1500 Bronson. Police will be working to update truck numbers today. Working with OPS to address multiple councillor inquiries as well as the plan for the new bus charter.

2022-02-09, 10:50 a.m. - Kim Ayotte: Can you please let me know ASAP if there are any other encampments other than Coventry and 1500 Bronson.?

2022-02-09, 10:51 a.m. - Kelly Cochrane: I will let you know if we hear of others but none identified at this time

2022-02-09, 10:51 a.m. - Kim Ayotte: Thanks

2022-02-09, 10:57 a.m. - Beth Gooding: People in this group may know more but some early and very quiet details have been shared with us of an offensive Op tomorrow morning, starting at 6:00 am, to clear Rideau/Sussex, using the Public Order unit.

2022-02-09, 10:57 a.m. - Beth Gooding: As an aside, OC Transpo delivered re tow trucks but now Police have lost their outside operators.

2022-02-09, 11:06 a.m. - Kelly Cochrane: NCRCC 11:00am update: OPP identified convoy in east end, planning to travel a loop in the east from Embrum. Ottawa areas would include Vars, Navan and Orleans. Not expected to come downtown. No confirmed numbers. Intel identified counter demonstration being organized by Ottawa Residents who want to see and end to the demonstration. Set for Feb 12 but no timings or locations. Candlelight vigil on Parliament at 16:30 tonight in support for those "injured by the vaccine". Nothing else pressing to report.

2022-02-09, 2:15 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: NCRCC update: Total vehicle count at 505 for the demonstration. Intel suggests counter demonstration starting today at 474 Elgin from 17:00-20:00 and going forward everyday until this issue is resolved. It is reported the mandate is citizens demanding action in defending our City. Hillier having a media avail still at 16:00 at the Marriott hotel. PLTs at Coventry reporting 2 separate camps identified. One cooperative and one with a very agitated leader. Reported many kids/families at the camp. Intel also indicates that the demonstrators are intentionally trying to throw off law enforcement, such as the tweet about heading to Toronto

2022-02-09, 2:27 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: breakdown of vehicle count. It is not including any encampments: - 132 wellington

- 32 Bank
- 156 Kent
- 35 Lyon
- 57 SJAM
- 53 Metcalfe

- 3 Elgin
- 37 Rideau/Sussex

2022-02-09, 2:40 p.m. - +1 (613) 316-9157: I received this from OPS about today's communication. No planned media avail. At this point they have 2 releases in the works: 1) the usual demo Police stats release "arrests/tickets for this pm and 2) PSA re Message to Demonstrators (giving notice that anyone in the red zone is now committing a criminal offence).

Possibly a chief video too asking protestors to leave.

2022-02-09, 5:09 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Update from 17:00 sit rep: OPS report approx 20 jerry can fuel seizures. Some requiring Public Order support. PM is back home and Parliament is still sitting. Parliament hill remains empty. Intel found two separate posts regarding convoys destined for Ottawa. First is for a convoy from Moncton to Ottawa leaving Feb 10 but so far minimal response for attendance. Secondly is a chartered bus from Southern Ontario to arrive in Ottawa on Saturday. No intel on numbers. Nothing else of significance at this time.

2022-02-09, 7:01 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: NCRCC Update

- Only significant event to report overnight was a flood in east block of Parliament Hill which required an Ottawa Fire Department Response

- Small convoy circulated east end from Orleans to Embrun with no issues
- Social media posts still inciting violence against uniformed law enforcement
- Hillier had a media briefing at 16:00 at the Marriott Hotel
- 6 Ministers, Chief Justice and PM on the Parliament Hill without issues. House is sitting again tomorrow
- Intel indicated of a potential convoy starting from the Canadian Tire Centre (unconfirmed timing). Centre has been notified and secured the parking lots
- Encampment at 1500 Bronson with kids tobogganing. Worked with PSPC and the City to issue signage for the potential dangers
- Possible other convoys over the weekend coming Moncton and a chartered bus from Southern Ontario
- Continued work today on securing the perimeter
- BLRS embedded with Ottawa Police Quick Response Teams - positive outcomes
- 302 Coventry appears to have been able to re-stock fuel supply. Intel also observed many children/families at this site
- Seized fuel containers still being transported to Hurdman Yards
- Inner perimeter vehicle count related to the convoy updated at 505 vehicles
- Police posture remains the same at this time
- No other issues or significant events to report

2022-02-09, 7:02 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Of note: Silvia Scapolati will be shadowing tomorrow to learn the ropes :)

2022-02-10, 8:34 a.m. - Beth Gooding added Silvia Scapilati

2022-02-10, 8:35 a.m. - Beth Gooding: Welcome, Sylvia, to this chat and thank you for agreeing to support us at the NCRCC. ðŸ˜Š

2022-02-10, 8:35 a.m. - Beth Gooding: Oops - Silvia (apologies for spelling)

2022-02-10, 9:11 a.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Morning all: Update from NCRCC. No notable events to report overnight. We are seeing a convoy that left Coventry and has been circling the airport. They are not cooperating with PLTs but it is believed they will keep this posture for a few hours. Airport is aware. RCMP have 250 officers arriving over today and tomorrow and are changing their command structure to facilitate this influx and assist OPS operations. No significant intel to report at this time. OPP will continue to monitor incoming convoys, non anticipated today. No one on Parliament Hill right now and the house will be sitting on their normal schedule. PM will attend the hill today. We may see the citizens counter demonstration again today at 474 Elgin. No confirmed number.

2022-02-10, 11:16 a.m. - Kelly Cochrane: NCRCC update: RCMP provided more operational information regarding tiered command structures to embed with Ottawa Police. They also flagged that their public order resources are also supporting Windsor at the Ambassador bridge and that every decision is being evaluated at a tactical, operational and strategic lens as well as has a regional and national implication. Convoy that circulated the airport has since returned to Coventry. Intel continues to suggest that the organizers are intentionally trying to throw off law enforcement using social media and that they are trying to cause issues in other parts of the city. Ottawa Police reporting an uptick in suspicious persons and activities in the downtown core and they have current ongoing negotiations with the main organizers at this time. No issues to report on Parliament Hill.

2022-02-10, 3:25 p.m. - Silvia Scapilati: NCRCC Update: No issues with movement of PMs/Senators on Parliament Hill reported. Police monitoring rolling convoys on the 417, leaving from the Coventry location. RCMP/OPS still engaged in high level operational conversations. The "Queen" reported to be in Quebec looking to pick up an RV. Video circulating of individuals at Coventry self swearing themselves in as peace officers and identifying themselves with "duct tape" around their arm. Police/BLRS QRT teams working exceptionally well and having success with enforcement operations.

2022-02-10, 3:34 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: Do we have any Intel on how many cars are at 1500 Bronson right now?

2022-02-10, 3:35 p.m. - Silvia Scapilati: We don't have a count, will work with OPS to see if they have a current count.

2022-02-10, 3:48 p.m. - Silvia Scapilati: As of 2:15pm there are 9 cars, 2 trailers, 1 tempo shelter, 1 gazebo, 3 trucks and 1 camper at 1500 Bronson

2022-02-10, 3:48 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: Thank you

2022-02-10, 6:44 p.m. - Silvia Scapilati: NCRCC Update: No major changes on the Parliament Hill. 250 officers deployed today from multiple different agencies. There is some intel on convoys coming to Ottawa from Gatineau on the 12th, unsure of number at this time. RCMP is being deployed to other sites such as Windsor. City staff and contractors removed barriers at Rideau and Sussex early this evening with the intent to allow vehicles to vacate that location. There were challenges and the operation has been delayed.

2022-02-10, 8:35 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: End of day update: Multiple social media videos reference police raids and is inciting violent ideations of violence towards law enforcement. A particular stream referenced significantly injuring officers if they attempted to remove them from the demonstration with their children present. No change in the current footprint or operational plans tomorrow. No issues to report on Parliament Hill or with the house sitting. Saw multiple slow rolling convoys throughout the day including on that just went across the 417 towards Embrun. Social media posts also indicate an intention to have convoys disrupt traffic at airports across the country tomorrow. Numerous convoys expected to depart Quebec destined to Ottawa this weekend but no confirmed numbers. The police/BLRS QRT teams were very successful today with a positive response from both embedded services and a significant enforcement of bylaw related fines achieved. I will remain on call for any issues or concerns. Have a good night ðŸ˜Š

2022-02-11, 8:45 a.m. - Kim Ayotte: Can you please take a second to give me a snapshot of the numbers of trucks that are still present in the market/downtown area:

- specifically, is there any kind of an encampment in the market (with ballpark numbers please or trucks/vehicles)

- is there an encampment on King Edward or elsewhere on lower twin (with ballpark numbers please or trucks/vehicles)

2022-02-11, 8:49 a.m. - Kim Ayotte: The last number I had was 37 at Rideau/ Sussex

2022-02-11, 8:53 a.m. - Kim Ayotte: Also need the numbers for 1500 Bronson

2022-02-11, 8:57 a.m. - Silvia Scapilati: One car at 1500 this morning and a tent with supplies in it, group may be on a slow roll, will get another update later on this morning from that location. Looking into the rest of the info for you.

2022-02-11, 9:13 a.m. - Silvia Scapilati: When you say the market, do you mean byward market square or anything east/north of mckenzie and sussex?

2022-02-11, 9:14 a.m. - Kim Ayotte: The secondâ€¦

2022-02-11, 9:21 a.m. - Silvia Scapilati: - Last drone footage as of Wednesday from OPS saw 505 trucks in downtown core, since then, 25 have left, leaving us at around 480 trucks. They do a drone view twice a week usually, based on available resources.

- Mckenzie and Sussex/Rideau and Sussex: there is an encampment there, consists of a Quebec based group; 37 still present, no change.

- No encampment on King Edward or anywhere in lower town known by OPS at this time.

2022-02-11, 9:29 a.m. - Silvia Scapilati: NCRCC Morning Update: No posture change from OPS and the geographical footprint remains the same. PM will attend the hill at 1pm today. OPP continues to monitor possible convoys tomorrow. At 9am there is a March happening around the canal, unclear of their mandate. House sitting regular hours today and Senate has adjourned for the next two weeks. Intel suggests anticipated uptick in people this weekend. School walk outs planned for 2pm today. OPS has also advised on a possible protest for tomorrow at Lansdowne Park from 11am-1pm.

2022-02-11, 11:36 a.m. - Silvia Scapilati: NCRCC Update: Not much to report. OPS is monitoring the potential for a slow roll around the airport, has been some chatter on this today. PM is at the hill, no issues. OPS performing heavy vehicle enforcement at Coventry with the MTO and Transport Canada.

2022-02-11, 2:13 p.m. - Silvia Scapilati: NCRCC Update: No change in footprint. Some small By-Law enforcements. Seeing some demonstrators circling the airport similar to yesterday. Counter protest planned for tomorrow at Elgin OPS station demanding end of occupation.

2022-02-11, 5:17 p.m. - Silvia Scapilati: NCRCC Update: OPS and OPP stabilized a situation this afternoon at the Bank and Wellington location where 3 individuals were attempting to erect a large tent. Structures continue to be an issue in the core this afternoon/evening. Quiet on the hill today. The House adjourned this afternoon with no issues. Monitoring potential convoys planned for Sunday, one from Coventry to Elgin at 9am and one from Canadian Tire Centre to Elgin at 9am as well.

2022-02-12, 9:19 a.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Good morning from the NCRCC: Very little to report this morning. Last night was a party atmosphere with multiple tents/stages set up. OPS have advised that the crowd has become increasingly agitated and the current interventions by OPS have had little to no impact. OPS has not yet changed their strategy and the footprint remains the same. We have seen some positive action at the Ambassador bridge with demonstrators leaving on their own. OPP report several convoys coming in today but unable to provide any further details on them. There is currently a small gathering on Parliament Hill. Hopefully the acclimate weather detours demonstrators from arriving today.

2022-02-12, 9:20 a.m. - Kelly Cochrane: The Jericho march is currently leaving the hill to do the same loops downtown as yesterday. OC also advised that they are in R1 meaning the LRT is not working between Rideau and Hurdman

2022-02-12, 11:42 a.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Update: Parliament Hill crowd approx 200. Crowds in the streets significantly growing already. Multiple inbound convoys being monitored. Intel suggests a large walking group from Coventry to downtown at approximately 11:30 but no movement on that site as of yet. Large group in Montreal but not determined if they are destined for Ottawa. MacDonald Cartier bridge is restricted to one lane in an effort to control incoming convoys.

2022-02-12, 1:46 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Update: we have approx 400 demonstrators blocking roadways at Lansdown park. Two groups identified, one as a union and the other as 'defund the police'. The environment here is unpredictable and hostile at times. The War Memorial fencing was knocked down and the monument now has heavy foot traffic. Significant amount of fuel observed in the downtown core. Police have challenges interjecting as they are requiring a public order unit for most infractions. BLRS has been removed from the red zone, no active embedded QRT teams at this time. No updated estimate on numbers but from the cameras I would guess 500-1000 on the hill and 7000-8000 in the streets but difficult to gauge.

2022-02-12, 2:09 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Okay so apologies, according to our recent update they don't have a total number in the downtown core but 1000+ on wellington alone. Nothing else in the sit rep that I hadn't recently mentioned

2022-02-12, 8:11 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: NCRCC update:

- OPS report that crowd dynamics changed overnight to more confrontational, outwardly defiant and even hostile at times
- OPS strategy remained the same going into today and the footprint was unchanged
- Multiple convoys arrived throughout the day. Attempts were made to stage Quebec originating convoys in that Province which relieved some pressure in the downtown core of Ottawa
- 3 marching demonstrations were observed. One walking convoy that left Coventry, one counter demonstration march that occurred at Landsdown and marched around that area. Approximately 300-400 in this march including unions and Black Lives Matter demonstrators. The final counter demonstration march was at 474 Elgin representing citizens demanding more action against the demonstrators
- OPS reports that Canadian Tire has been flagging a lot of bear spray sales
- Crowd became very agitated and large in size with many flashpoints throughout the downtown core. OPS focused on officer safety and gathering evidence instead of enforcement. BLRS, parking enforcement and other city workers pulled out of the downtown core for employee safety reasons.
- War memorial fencing had a coordinated removal by demonstrators. Working with PSPC to re-install fencing overnight
- 20 full patch wearing Black Piston biker gang members spotted downtown on Wellington
- Coventry vehicle count as of 16:30 today was 17 bobtails, 2 eighteen wheelers, 250 passenger vehicles and a small crane. Crowd size at that time was approximately 200
- Coordinated a response with PSPC to remove left over debris and porta-potties at 1500 Bronson
- OPP monitoring incoming convoys tomorrow. One anticipated to stage at Canadian Tire Centre and one at Coventry. Numbers unknown
- Downtown has a significant presence of stages and tents, some selling or giving away food. Others with alcoholic beverages and merchandise. BLRS will be integrated with QRTs tomorrow again and will be ready to withdrawal depending on the temperament of the demonstrators. There was also a spa observed on Wellington
- Overnight environment expected to be a "party like" atmosphere

2022-02-13, 9:08 a.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Morning everyone: Crowds dissipated around midnight last night due to the cold. Police are taking more of an enforcement stance on supplies coming into the inner perimeter. Two convoys expected to gather in Ottawa to cause traffic disruptions. One at Canadian Tire Centre (only 5 vehicles and no trucks there), the other from Coventry and no movement noted at this site. Big update of the day is that OPP reported a tractor trailer stolen from Peterborough with 2400 firearms in it

2022-02-13, 9:23 a.m. - Kelly Cochrane: The two convoys have now departed, Canadian Tire Centre approx 25 vehicles. Coventry south on Riverside approx 40 cars. Unexpected counter protest at Riverside and Bank. Pedestrians blocking the roads and intercepting the Coventry convoy. Police en route

2022-02-14, 8:08 a.m. - Todd: NCRCC Update: Good Morning All. Here is the latest:

Work beginning on the deal negotiated between the Mayor and the Freedom Convoy President to move trucks from residential neighbourhoods to Wellington and SJAM

Confusion unfolded into the evening over whether the deal was on â€‹ Tamara Lich (President) sent out a Tweet indicating there was no deal, but later clarified she was referring to there being no deal to leave Ottawa, but rather - to relocate the trucks.

â€‹ Pat King issued a conflicting Facebook video around the same time indicating that the letter from Tamara was fake, that it was a ploy from counter-protestors, and that all truckers were directed to stay in place and not move â€¢ These conflicting directions are likely to hinder progress and cooperation by those truckers aligned with the official Freedom Convoy group, not to mention the challenges in dealing with the numerous independent splinter groups.

â€¢ OPS is currently finalizing the plan to facilitate the safe and efficient egress of vehicles from residential neighbourhoods.

â€‹ Road Services staff are on standby awaiting direction from OPS.

â€¢ No specific details have been shared with us by OPS re: traffic management at this point, but they have confirmed that - once the vehicles start to move - side streets and exits will be fully blocked to prevent vehicles from deviating from their planned route.

â€¢ More details will be shared once available.

2022-02-14, 9:26 a.m. - Todd: â€¢ CORRECTION: OPS has shared their draft plan (still not formally approved by their Commander) with City staff here at the NCRCC. Their focus this morning is on getting vehicles to leave the core, NOT on repositioning trucks along Wellington and SJAM, as originally thought. The draft plan appears to focus largely on diverting vehicles eastbound on Laurier Avenue West to Nicholas and then to the eastbound off-ramp (with Lyon to Catherine and the westbound off-ramp as a backup/contingency). Once all willing vehicles have left, the PLT will then work with the organizers at a later time to reposition the remaining vehicles along Wellington and SJAM as part of a separate phase/operation.

â€¢ Intel advised that Tamara Lich (President of Freedom Convoy) sent a "confidential letter" to the membership advising that the repositioning is a strategy to prevent the PM from using force to intervene

â€¢ OPP will be bringing in helicopter for a count this afternoon

â€¢ Two incidents overnight:

â€¢ Someone throwing lightbulbs with paint at Convoy vehicles

â€¢ Someone slashing convoy tires on five vehicles

â€¢ HoC sitting 11am to 7pm; no indication that it will run late

2022-02-14, 9:37 a.m. - Kim Ayotte: This message was deleted

2022-02-14, 9:37 a.m. - Todd: S/Sgt. Hull just advised now that the plan was approved by OPS. Awaiting word on timing.

2022-02-14, 9:38 a.m. - Kim Ayotte: Problem is that SJAM was not approved in the negotiations last nightâ€¢ only Wellington.

2022-02-14, 9:42 a.m. - Todd: Understood. The current operation is focused on removing vehicles (not repositioning on Wellington or SJAM), so there should hopefully be time to sort that out. I can't imagine we'll see much voluntary movement this morning, but fingers crossed that I'm wrong.

2022-02-14, 9:50 a.m. - Todd: Kim - S/Sgt. Hull just advised that they're hoping to reposition vehicles east of Lyon, west of Elgin, and north of Queen (hopefully), without touching SJAM.

2022-02-14, 9:52 a.m. - Kim Ayotte: Just an FYI that SJAM being cleared out was also part of the deal.

2022-02-14, 9:57 a.m. - Todd: Good to know. Thx Kim!

2022-02-14, 1:26 p.m. - Todd: NCRCC Update: Work is underway to move vehicles towards Wellington. OPS is reporting that approximately 10 vehicles were moved north-bound up O'Connor. Hopefully more to follow.

2022-02-14, 1:43 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Thanks Todd

2022-02-14, 2:17 p.m. - Todd: Just finished our 2:00pm SitRep. OPS indicates that overall it is quiet on the streets. They don't anticipate having a good snapshot on truck numbers and placement for at least 24hrs given that some trucks are leaving and some are just repositioning (OPP Cessna is in the air now, so that may give us a better sense of current numbers before then). There were reports of some truckers refusing to move because they thought this was a "trap", but now that they are witnessing progress moving towards Wellington - hopefully we'll see more moving soon.

2022-02-14, 2:26 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: This message was deleted

2022-02-14, 5:41 p.m. - Todd: NCRCC Update:

â€ Quiet day for the most part with no major issues or incidents

â€ Good progress freeing up Albert Street

â€ 30 Bobtails and three vehicles moved onto Wellington

â€ 40-50 vehicles near Bank, Albert and Slater refusing to move (indicating they want to keep the larger footprint)

â€ Several problematic vehicles at Kent & Lisgar as well.

â€ OPS will be reviewing the perimeter and possibly making barricade moves based on progress today

â€ Posture for this evening and into the morning is focused on monitoring the response to the PMs announcement â€ Monitoring expected to continue tomorrow as well, with possible OPS activities on Wednesday.

2022-02-15, 9:44 a.m. - Silvia Scapilati: NCRCC Morning Update:

- OPS is not planning on facilitating any movements of vehicles today, but will support if they want to leave voluntarily.

- OPS maintain current posture of more of an education approach rather than enforcement-based approach.

- Some reduction in demonstrator vehicles, last night's count by OPS puts the downtown core at 357.

- No activity last night and OPS is dealing with a lot of discontent and lack of communication between demonstrator subgroups.

- Quiet on the hill today.

- PM will be on the hill until 2pm today.

- House sitting 10am-7pm likely to sit tonight until 2am.

2022-02-15, 2:56 p.m. - Silvia Scapilati: NCRCC Update:

- A few vehicles continue to leave downtown core.

- OPS working on some long-term strategic plans for the next 5 days.

- One of the trucks on Wellington has been identified as stolen and OPS is working on removing it.

- OPP observed some slowdowns heading towards Kingston.

- RCMP will continue their current footprint for the next few days.
- House of commons will sit until at least midnight and will likely remain until approximately 2am.

2022-02-15, 5:56 p.m. - Silvia Scapilati: NCRCC Update:

- Calm day with no major issues
- Saw a few vehicles trickle out today but nothing significant
- OPS will maintain same posture for tomorrow
- Possible Wednesday operation by OPS has been postponed

2022-02-16, 9:10 a.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Morning: Update from the NCRCC. Overnight there was one arrest for an impaired driver downtown related to the convo and one detention under the Mental Health Act for a male who was seen wearing body armour and a knife. His searched vehicle revealed numerous other knives including machetes (charges pending). Ottawa Police have also corrected the vehicle count. It is 450 vehicles downtown related to the convo (they missed counting two blocked apparently). Parliament is sitting today and PM will be on the hill. Jericho march set to step off the hill momentarily. No other significant events to report.

2022-02-16, 9:33 a.m. - Kim Ayotte: Total number of vehicles is not what we need. Please try to see if you can get the number of "Trucks" moved out of the residential area since Monday

2022-02-16, 9:34 a.m. - Kelly Cochrane: I'll work on that. They have said approximately 50 vehicles have left since Monday but I'll try to get more specifics on "trucks"

2022-02-16, 9:34 a.m. - Kim Ayotte: Thanks the last number we got was 43

2022-02-16, 9:55 a.m. - Kelly Cochrane: I spoke to the inspector and the drone count Sunday was 505 The count yesterday was 450. They cannot give a breakdown of vehicle type leaving the residential area at this time but just states that the residential area is more "free flowing with traffic". I have inquired with the OPP helicopter but it has not done a count and no expectation to do one as they have been getting their numbers from OPS. I have made an ask to OPS to get a more specific count and they will work on it but no timeline. Wish I had better information. Apologies.

2022-02-16, 9:56 a.m. - Kim Ayotte: Thanks Kelly

2022-02-16, 2:24 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: No major update from NCRCC: 5 trucks have left since PLTs delivered the enforcement notices. Another group has requested a meeting with PLTs and we are hoping they also leave. Coventry site swarmed the officers when they tried to deliver the enforcement notices and officers had to retreat. Everything else is status quo right now

2022-02-16, 8:29 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: End of day update: Social media from demonstrators is still inciting violence against law enforcement. The crowd is much more agitated today with the enforcement notifications. Minimal populations in the streets right now and no one on Parliament Hill. CBSA advises of a cross-country convoy set to converge on Ottawa Feb 18 but no word on numbers. Parliament is currently still sitting. No other major issues or events to report

2022-02-17, 9:56 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: Haven't heard anything today

2022-02-17, 9:57 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: Is it radio silence or the calm before the storm?

2022-02-18, 4:10 a.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Apologies boss. That wasn't my intention. I was just protecting the amount of written communication yesterday to protect operational integrity but was in nearly hourly verbal communication with Beth. I am on my way back in and will ensure timely updates

2022-02-18, 5:05 a.m. - Kelly Cochrane: "Protest Organizers Chris Barber and Tamara LICH are currently in custody.

"While there has been no change in the red zone boundary, the traffic hardening plan was implemented by OPP units closing off 8 off ramps of the 417 as well as most of the major roadways into the downtown core. 2 on-ramps were closed by the MTO as they could not be cleared of snow (Metcalf EB and St Laurent WB).

Known disruptor George Billings broadcast his trip through two checkpoints on Facebook Live, telling his followers that police weren't pursuing him after he drove through the checkpoints. He eventually made it onto Kent Street where he joined other demonstrators and proceeded to walk through most of the downtown while filming police positions.

2022-02-18, 7:06 a.m. - Kim Ayotte: Thanks Kelly! I know it was a busy day yesterday and that you did not have much that you were able to offer. FYI I am in at City Hall; also not stopped in my big black pickup and I went through Somerset and Bronson (4 cops) they didn't stop anyone!

2022-02-18, 7:07 a.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Interesting but sadly not surprising :(Glad you made it there safe. It was an interesting drive in this morning for sure 2022-02-18, 7:22 a.m. - Kim Ayotte: I think they know that most people are travelling legitimately at 6:00am I'm sure they will start cracking down soon.

2022-02-18, 7:23 a.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Yes and they are just doing shift change and the new shift it is their first time working the check points and they are all still receiving direction.

2022-02-18, 7:36 a.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Important update: Operations starting NOW

2022-02-18, 7:37 a.m. - Kim Ayotte: Thanks

2022-02-18, 8:03 a.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Messaging from PLTs is you leave now and leave your vehicle. You had an opportunity to drive away before. Your vehicle will be removed later. Anyone left in their vehicles will be removed by public order after the PLT wave 2022-02-18, 9:10 a.m. - Kelly Cochrane: MacKenzie/Waller/Nicholas has been completed. Multiple arrests made for those refusing to leave their vehicle voluntarily.

2022-02-18, 9:10 a.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Police will be starting to tow the vehicles from this area

2022-02-18, 12:09 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Operations at Rideau/Sussex going as expected. Multiple arrests have been made today. Location for vehicles to be towed has been released by Pat King and police are guarding that location. Incoming convoy seen by OPP an hour out but no numbers. Pat King still not located. Fielding multiple requests from NCRCC and ICC

2022-02-18, 12:10 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: Thanks

2022-02-18, 12:19 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: we are starting to see trucks leaving off wellington on their own....finally 2022-02-18, 12:21 p.m. - Todd: Pat King instructed them to go to Antrim in Arnprior. Suggested returning back to Ottawa at a later time.

2022-02-18, 12:24 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: stand up guy that pat king...being a facebook warrior and hiding in his hotel room.....grrrr

2022-02-18, 12:38 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Intel just updated King has been arrested. No further details but I think he may be live feeding his arrest

2022-02-18, 1:14 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: NCRCC sit rep: OPS update multiple arrests in the Rideau/Sussex area without incident. OPP PLTs trying to notify incoming convoys to turn around or they can face arrest if demonstrating in Ottawa. OPS also confirm Pat Kings arrest. Intel confirms Tow Truck drivers info and the Conroy staging location have been released on social media.

2022-02-18, 1:59 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Operations still ongoing at Rideau/Sussex. One officer assessed by paramedics with a minor ankle injury . One demonstrator currently being transported to hospital with a medical related issue (not an injury).

2022-02-18, 2:07 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: At least 17 arrests, possibly more. There are 14 POUs out there right now! Will soon put up fencing to secure the areas they took back. Not sure about plan for tonight; fluid.

Line up of arrests

2022-02-18, 5:29 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Public order has pushed the line in front of the Chateau near the locks. 100+ arrests have been made at this time

2022-02-18, 8:54 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Police stopped counting arrests after 100 but expect the number to be much higher. Vehicles are starting to be towed from Rideau/Sussex location. Second site secured for towed vehicles through PSPC. Operations expected to continue 24/7 with no change in the footprint at this time. Incoming convoys are being intercepted by OPP to advise of repercussions if they participate in the Ottawa demonstration. Multiple cars from the Antrim Truck Stop have since turned to return home. No major incidents reported by police. No one on Parliament Hill but parliament is expect to sit tomorrow until midnight. Silvia will be steering the ship overnight 2022-02-18, 8:58 p.m. - Andrea Lanthier-Seymour: Your updates are greatly appreciated Kelly. Have a great night.

2022-02-19, 9:23 a.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Good morning :). Operations are beginning now to clear the wellington corridor. Police estimating near 200 arrests yesterday but will confirm numbers. Parliament sitting today until midnight. Senate dismissed until Monday. Multiple convoys being tracked inbound

2022-02-19, 9:26 a.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Smoke deployed on wellington. Unclear if it was from public order or a demonstrator

2022-02-19, 9:30 a.m. - Kim Ayotte: Thanks Iâ€™m at City Hall again today

2022-02-19, 9:40 a.m. - Kelly Cochrane: they are going to launch a distraction device

2022-02-19, 2:33 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Not a lot to report at this time. Public order is dealing with three flashpoint spots they are trying to hold . Bank and Wellington, metcalfe and Queen and on Mackenzie north of Rideau. This is creating challenges with pushing the line forward as resources are spread across multiple sites. Vehicles actively been towed from Wellington and one pet found stranded in a vehicle that was retrieved safely by our BLRS

2022-02-19, 8:31 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: Thanks

2022-02-19, 8:52 p.m. - Todd: I should have also noted that several vehicles were starting to clear out of Coventry (rumoured to be relocating to an undisclosed private property), and the dining tent has started being disassembled. No further intel on remaining numbers at this time.

2022-02-19, 8:52 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: Thanks

2022-02-19, 9:02 p.m. - Steve Kanellakos: CBC just showed live footage of Coventry. Everything cleared out other than a few cars.

2022-02-20, 7:44 a.m. - Kim Ayotte: Good morning everyoneâ€¢ streets appear to be relatively empty this morning.

2022-02-20, 7:49 a.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Good morning. Yes it is very encouraging. Especially with Coventry so empty. There was a good block party last night off Metcalfe but the end is very close!

2022-02-20, 9:49 a.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Update: Parliament Hill remains empty and fencing was removed overnight on the hill. Parliament is sitting on a normal schedule today. OPS have POU teams patrolling the inner perimeter. No issues to report at this time. Roads is working on snow removal and grading of roads inside the perimeter and along SJAM. Debris on the roads was removed overnight. One tweet online indicating a demonstration at 11:30 at the war memorial - unconfirmed attendance if any. Police will be working south of Wellington to clear any remaining demonstration areas. Coventry requested more time today to clear out the site and it appears demonstrators are still actively complying with clearing the site today. OPP concerned for encampments outside Ottawa and continuing to monitor

2022-02-20, 1:00 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Small demonstration at SJAM and Booth. Police and BLRS on scene

2022-02-20, 1:02 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: Thanks

2022-02-20, 1:06 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Exclusion zone for everyone except first responders and Parliamentarians in effect which is Wellington down to Sparks from Elgin to Bay

2022-02-20, 1:41 p.m. - Beth Gooding: Just flagging to the group that the duration of the exclusion zone is unknown. And, it's a little unclear who is responsible for notifying/discussing with the BIAs and others implicated (e.g., federal government). The EOC is following up.

2022-02-20, 1:42 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: OK

2022-02-20, 6:29 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: Thanks Kelly

2022-02-20, 6:36 p.m. - Steve Kanellakos: Thx Kelly

2022-02-20, 6:45 p.m. - Todd: After speaking with Kelly - minor point of clarification: we are working with OPS, Econ. Dev., and PIMR on messaging to BIAs and OCOBIA, but they have not been formally notified yet.

2022-02-20, 6:47 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Thanks Todd

2022-02-20, 8:17 p.m. - Steve Kanellakos: Are inter provincial bridges opening tonite?

2022-02-20, 8:30 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Alexandria and portage are still closed but hoping to have portage open by morning

2022-02-20, 8:30 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: They were talking about Alexandria tomorrow as well and Iâ€™ll update

2022-02-21, 9:58 a.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Morning. One arrest made overnight for demonstrator who re-entered controlled zone (re-arrest for this demonstrator). SJAM opened until Portage north bound and south bound is still just for essential workers. East of the canal is open including the byward market. Parliament sitting until 20:00 and House starting to sit at 14:00

2022-02-21, 4:33 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: NCRCC update

- One arrest overnight and one during the day in the restricted zone

- SJAM and Booth continue to have a small presence of demonstrators and BLRS regularly visiting
- BLRS attended Conroy yards to assist police with questions surrounding processing of ticketing of towed vehicles
- Perimeter reducing and is now Bronson to QED and north of Somerset
- OPP working on timeline to open 417 ramps but expecting it to be in the near future. Snow removal underway now
- Continued work on snow removal clearing, fencing and barriers throughout the night
- Intel is not indicating a resurgence of the Convoy in Ottawa at this time but suggesting groups may target other regions/provinces
- Tomorrow Silvia will be in the NCRCC to assist with the final transition and anticipating the EOC Liaison role will move virtual as of Wednesday

2022-02-22, 11:37 a.m. - Silvia Scapilati: NCRCC Update: OPS is still holding the secure zone. Southern boundary has been raised to Somerset. They will continue to assess today and hope to raise the southern boundary to Laurier. If they are able to raise to Laurier, they will hold at that until the end of the weekend. If intel suggests a need to extend the boundary prior to the weekend, OPS will adjust accordingly. OPS will also be increasing Police presence over the weekend. This still remains very fluid at this time. The checkpoints continue to be a bit of a challenge in terms of contractors entering to support different RCMP, PPS or City activities, OPS is managing well and continue to work wither partners on this. Intel last this morning suggests that the group at Vankleek Hill please to move to Arnprior where they will regroup and then go home.

2022-02-23, 6:27 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Nighttime update from NCRCC. Police reporting there are 5 protesters at Elgin and Queen and 4 trucks from Herbs truck stop have blocked the 417 east bound at mile marker 25. They will continue to monitor 2022-02-23, 6:55 p.m. - Beth Gooding: Kelly - I got a call from Police. They say the Vankleek group want to do a slow roll, possibly into the City. Police will be closing the 417 off ramps, apparently from Rochester to Riverside.

2022-02-23, 6:57 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: The slow roll has moved their time to 10am. Police may close the ramps and will update closer to the morning but expecting to close them to prevent the slow roll from entering the downtown area

2022-02-23, 6:58 p.m. - Beth Gooding: OK! Please keep us posted. ðŸ˜Š

2022-02-23, 6:58 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: I will

2022-02-23, 7:00 p.m. - Beth Gooding: Would be good to know if Police will do comms too. When I talked to them, they were not there yet.

2022-02-23, 7:01 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Yeah absolutely. Iâ€™ll inquire

2022-02-23, 7:20 p.m. - Andrea Lanthier-Seymour: I can reach out to police comms as well, Kelly, if needed

2022-02-23, 7:20 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Thank you

2022-02-23, 7:21 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: That would be great as they are just relaying a message to their coms from the NCRCC. Thanks Andrea 2022-02-23, 7:27 p.m. - Andrea Lanthier-Seymour: Will do.

2022-02-23, 7:48 p.m. - Andrea Lanthier-Seymour: OPP and OPS are monitoring and have messaging ready if required.

2022-02-24, 12:55 p.m. - Silvia Scapilati: NCRCC Update:

â€¢ OPS drone going up to take footage and will be flying North of Wellington

â€¢ OPP currently reporting 30 vehicles at Vankleek Hill and 20 vehicles at White Lake

â€¢ OPP also taking aviation footage of outlying areas to confirm convoy numbers

â€¢ PM walking from the hill to SJAM to do a speech at 12:45pm and then he will return to the hill

â€¢ No slow rolls anticipated at this time

â€¢ For situational awareness there was a small demonstration starting outside the Russian Embassy consisting of 5 people, but at this time there are no demonstrators present

2022-02-28, 4:20 p.m. - Beth Gooding: Thank you to Kelly, Todd, and Silvia for representing the City's EOC in the NCRCC so well. Kim can attest to the fact that we had to fight to get a spot at the table but once there, Kelly/Todd/Silvia more than proved their value. Our policing partners have sent many complimentary notes. You guys were amazing liaison officers! Yay! Your long hours and hard work are appreciated.

2022-02-28, 4:21 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: It was an absolute pleasure to represent the city there.

2022-02-28, 4:30 p.m. - Kim Ayotte: I am very thankful that we had great people working with us!

2022-02-28, 4:36 p.m. - Steve Kanellakos: Kelly, Todd, Sylvia: you were all exceptional in fulfilling the role. We depended on you so much to have access to current information. You were our lifeline. Thank you for the many hours you committed to the role. Steve K

2022-02-28, 4:41 p.m. - Silvia Scapilati: I would do it again in a heartbeat! Honoured to be part of this amazing team and look forward to all we can accomplish together in the future.

2022-02-28, 4:52 p.m. - Todd: Thank you Beth, Kim and Steve. Iâ€™m sure I speak for Silvia as well when I say that Kelly did a great job showing me the ropes in the NCRCC, so that certainly made our job easier! Overall, the entire City team did an excellent job with the elements that were under our control, and itâ€™s always impressive to see how everyone pulls together to get the job done.

I'm in absolutely no hurry to repeat that ordeal (unlike SK, I can't afford to lose much more hair), but I always enjoy and look forward to working with the great team in the OEM, and this was certainly no exception.

Job well done team!

2022-02-28, 5:36 p.m. - Kelly Cochrane: Aww thanks Todd. It was a pleasure getting to know you all better and work together. :)
